What You'll Need:

What to Do:

1. With a grownup's help, preheat the oven to 375°F.
2. Divide the dough into two balls, one larger than the other, and place each in a mixing bowl.
3. Add blue food coloring to the larger dough ball. Mix, adding more food coloring if necessary. Repeat with the green food coloring and the smaller dough ball.*
4. To make the cookies: pinch off about a tablespoon of blue dough. Add one or more pieces of green dough and roll into a ball. Place two inches apart on baking sheet and gently flatten with the bottom of a glass.
5. Bake for 6 to 8 minutes, or until set. Remove from baking sheet, let cool, and enjoy!

*Tip: If the dough gets too soft after mixing in the colors, refrigerate it for 30 minutes.
